POLAND HAS FINALLY REVISED ITS NATIONAL LEGISLATION

Dear Subscribers,

On a short track we inform you about the following important issue concerning

AGROCHEMICALS

POLAND HAS FINALLY REVISED ITS NATIONAL LEGISLATION!

The national Polish law requiring applicants to submit all documentation to the Polish authorities in Polish language has been amended. The amendment was passed in the Polish parliament and will enter into force on 24th January 2015.

The original act stipulated that also documents related to the registration of plant protection products, not limited to application forms, labels and material safety data sheets, but including all dossiers and study reports, had to be translated into the Polish language.

With the new legislation the translation of the dossiers and the study reports will no longer be necessary. They will be accepted in English again. This will allow for a more versatile approach to dossier preparation and submission.
